

Cause-Effect Review

In the brain frame below, fill in at least three causes and at least three effects of you going to the MATCH Middle School.

Name:
Homeroom:
Mr. Z.'s Science Class
10/14/08

Hint: If you're having trouble thinking of things, try completing these sentences:

- I go to MATCH Middle School because...
- Because I go to the MATCH Middle School, ...

I go to the MATCH
Middle School

Smog and Blood Cells

Make a brain frame based on the paragraph below. Some ideas in it should be familiar to you from our blood cells unit.

Name:
Homeroom:
Mr. Z.'s Science Class
10/15/08

Pollution in the air can cause problems with breathing

When there is heavy pollution, particles from smog collect in your lungs. Your white blood cells attack these particles when they are in your lungs, because they smell like germs. Since the white blood cells release poison when they fight, your throat and lungs swell up. This causes you to wheeze and cough.